MOTHERS' CLUB.

One of the best meetings the Mothers' Club has had was enjoyed Friday afternoon. There was a large attendance and much interest was shown in the program and in the work of the club.

Dr. W. M. West addressed the ladies on "Contagious Diseases of Childhood." The doctor's talk was practical and instructive and he brought out many truths which the mothers and the teachers present were glad to learn.

He told how germs were carried and how to prevent the spread of disease. The care of the patient was talked upon at length. He said for the mothers not to allow children in a sick room and never to allow them to visit another sick child. He also spoke of methods to be used in the schoolrooms to prevent one child from transmitting a disease to another. The address was splendid and was fully appreciated by the Club.

Harold Lane, of Joplin, played a violin solo, accompanied by Mrs. J. J. Peck. Harold shows much skill for so young a performer.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Laura Leckie, the vice president, Mrs. Hale, the president, being out of town.

After the program the club enjoyed a social session. The hostesses, Mrs. Philip Davis, Mrs. E. S. Wilson and Mrs. James McNally, served delicious refreshments.

RUSSIA HAS CLOSED UP SALOONS DURING WAR

Farm and Fireside, the national farm paper, published at Springfield, Ohio, contains in its current issue an editorial calling attention to the fact that the Russian government has always derived a large income from taxes on vodka, the principal drink used in Russia. At the opening of the war, however, Russia decided to close all vodka shops. Following is an extract from the editorial:

"When the war opened Russia found in power certain men who had seen that the vodka evil was sapping the very life of Russia, and all at once, as a war measure, the liquor shops were closed. For the first time in their lives the peasants remained sober. They may have been intoxicated with the war fever sedulously preached to them by their priests at the behest of the Czar, but as for alcoholic intoxication, they were free from it.

"The results are said to be marvelous. Even in the midst of the dreadful struggle of the war the peasants are better and happier than when they had the open vodka shop. They find that of the two evils war is less than drunkenness. They are living better, saving their small earnings in part, becoming better and more efficient men.

"If this experiment in prohibition is carried on to success as a permanent policy in Russia it will be the most complete demonstration of its benefits ever given to the world. It will show just what the evils of vodka were. It will show, too, the extent to which prohibitory laws can be enforced under an absolute despotism. And it may make some of our more enthusiastic prohibitionists look longingly towards the Czar's dominions as they see the difficulties which beset the enforcement of such laws in a country in which the officers in charge of it are elected by local popular vote."

Miss Mae Williams has returned to her home in Purdy, after a few days' stay in Monett.

MAIL CLERKS MUST MARRY OR BE TRANSFERRED

The mail clerks on the Monett and Paris run have received notice that some of the clerks are to be transferred and in the change the single men will have to go in preference to the married men.

It is predicted by some that several marriages will result in a short time. Mail clerks coming in from that run are now watched with interest, especially when met at the train by lady friends.

Claude Yocam, of Purdy, visited in Monett Thursday evening on his way to Neosho.

Mrs. McClain's Experience With Croup

"When my boy, Ray, was small he was subject to croup, and I was always alarmed at such times. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy proved far better than any other for this trouble. It always relieved him quickly. I never without it in the house for I know it is a positive cure for croup," writes Mrs. W. R. McClain, Blairsville, Pa. For sale by all dealers.

Look Out for Crooks Who Want to Loan You Money

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside attention is called to the fact that the Department of Agriculture is warning farmers to beware of crooks who want to loan money. According to Farm and Fireside the department calls attention to the scheme of certain loan companies that promise cheaper money than anyone else can get for them. Such a company will offer to lend money on good security for about three per cent interest and allow you to repay the loan in easy installments.

The scheme sounds good, but when you sign your name to the papers you merely sign an application for the loan and you do not get your money, and neither do you know when you are going to get it. But by signing the paper you have obligated yourself to pay a certain amount every month. The publicity which rural credit has received has caused dishonest loan companies to follow the band wagon.
